Coffee of the Month:

Mexican Chiapas Buena Vista Mayan Harvest

Hailing from Buena Vista, Chiapas, Mexico this dark roast brings together the refreshing and comforting nature of incoming spring with it's lemony zest and soothing notes of caramel and cream. Click for purchase. Look below for purchase options!

The producer of this coffee, Rosalba Cifuentes Tovia of Mayan Harvest, grew up in the region, learning the coffee industry from the ground up. Mayan Harvest sources their coffee from 38 family-owned farms on small plots of land (5 acres or less). Rosalba works to ensure fair prices for the farmers' coffee, as well as helps cut down on costs through different means. Read more...

Introducing Tony & His Amazing Poptarts

We're excited to introduce to you one of our most amazing employees, Tony. You'll likely find him serving you coffee from the register while wearing one of his favorite patterned button down shirts.

We asked Tony some questions about a day in the life and got some great answers.

His favorite drink? Iced Latte

Favorite activities: Baking, Scootering & Running

Favorite thing about living in the bay: Trips to the piers in SF

Tony brought his love of baking to us from his home in Peru. While being partially opened during this time, Tony has been experimenting with recipes and we're amazed at the talent he's brought to the table. He started making banana bread, cookies and now we're very happy to announce: Tony's Amazing Poptarts.

These homemade treats are a true delight. Made simply with flour, sugar, water and egg, Tony prepares the dough and lets it rise and fills them with Nutella, Raspberry Jam or both. Fork detailing on the edge to seal, and finally, the creme de la creme, an egg wash is brushed across the tops, creating the perfect golden tint as they bake.

Made daily and only 8 come in a batch, so be sure to grab them while they're hot! Available for purchase at the Bean Shop.
